FEATURED SESSIONS

Navigating Different Pathways of Engagement in the Family Enterprise

You're not taking over the family business or heading up the family office – so what now? If your family doesn't have defined role paths within the family system, and you're unclear about how to engage, you're not alone. During this session, panelists will discuss what their families' role defining process is, including everything from formalized procedures to a complete lack thereof. This panel will help attendees understand how to stay engaged with their family and continue to make their voice heard despite a lack of clarity around roles or engagement processes.

Connecting Privilege and Purpose: Philanthropy for the Next Generation

As part of the greatest wealth transfer of all time, emerging leaders from the next generation of wealth holders and creators have the power to redefine philanthropy. As next gen, what is our role in creating impact? How can we challenge norms and give in ways that are more strategic and trust-based – leading to system's level change. This session will explore new ways to define impact and how we can use our influence to shift the culture and legacy of family philanthropy to achieve even bigger results.

Connecting Privilege and Purpose: Breakout Discussions

These interactive breakout discussions will provide tangible methods that attendees can use to achieve their philanthropic goals that align with personal values.
